the praline of amusement and my cliometric pearl can't call it, curve unnumbered. you can't ride that long, you can't turn that far, that cold coming and going in and out of snow. the speed of our washing is blinding and our devotion is laughing without a name or song. This is our music. we're many hymns in love with one another warring out of circle almost, almost frozen, color become shape, you put your coat on me.
