the gramsci monument

if the projects become a project from outside then the projects been a project forever. held in the projects we the project they stole. we steal the project back and try to give it back to them.

come on, come get some of this project. we protect the project with our open hands. the architect is in mining and we dispossess him. we protect the project by handing.

let's bust the project up. let's love the project. can the projects be loved? we love the projects. let's move the projects. we project the projects. I'm just projecting the project's mine to give away. I'm not mine when I dispossess me I'm just a projection.

projection's just us that's who we are that's who we be. we always be projecting. that's all we have.

we project the outside that's inside us. we the outside that violates our block. we violate the auction block experiment. we pirates of ourselves and others. we the friend of all. we the cargo. are you my treasure? you all I need. are you my wish? come be my sunship. you are my starship. you meant to fly but don't be late. I dream the sails of the project from the eastern shore. plywood sails the city island past the enclave mirror till the bricks arise.

at the fugitive bar and the food be tasting good. kitchenette my cabin and flesh be burning in the hold. I love the way you smell. your cry enjoys me. let me taste the way you think.

let's do this one more time while the project repeats me. the project incompletes me. I am replete with the project. your difference folds me in your arms, my oracle with sweets, be my confection engine. hear my plea. tell me how to choose.

tell me how to choose the project I have chosen. are you the projects I have chosen? you are the project I choose.
